

NEWS GATHERED FROM THE SOUTH SIDE

Funeral of Captain Blankenship Will be Held To-Morrow Afternoon at Matoaca.

SUPERINTENDENT FOR YEARS

Date for Primary Has Not as Yet Been Set—Children's Day.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street.

The funeral of Captain W. A. Blankenship, who died at his home at Matoaca yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, will take place from the residence to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Judge William L. Clifton and Mr. D. L. Pulliam have been designated as pall-bearers from this city. Captain Blankenship was born in Chesterfield county sixty-eight years ago. When but a boy he attended the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, and at the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in the cause of the Confederacy.

He had been in service but a few months when he was made captain of a company in one of General Early's regiments. He was a gallant and fearless soldier. At Gettysburg he was in the charge of Culp's Hill, and it was there that he lost his leg. After the close of the war, Captain Blankenship returned to Chesterfield county, and in 1884 he was appointed Superintendent of Schools of Chesterfield county under the administration of Governor Fitzhugh Lee. He retained this position until two days before his death, at which time he handed in his resignation to the department of education.

Captain Blankenship was never married. He is survived by one half-brother, John N. Dunstan, of Elitrick, and two half-sisters. Up to this time nothing has been done in connection with the primary, incident to the fall election. The City Central Committee, which is elected each time that a congressman is chosen, has not as yet reorganized, and, in fact, nothing has been done in the direction of mapping out a plan for the coming primary, which should be held in the next fall. It has been a custom in this district for the committees from Chesterfield, Powhatan and Manchester to meet jointly and decide upon a date for the primary.

There are several candidates for the State Senate and the House of Delegates, and it is expected that the Democratic primary be held as soon as possible.

WHERE TO GET THE NEWS

WHEN IT REALLY IS NEWS

(News Leader, June 7th.)

J. Pierpont Morgan's having rented the Rutherford mansion, at Second and Grace Streets, for the purpose of attending the General Episcopal Convention, which was announced exclusively in yesterday's News Leader, has excited the greatest interest all over the world, and is taken as a positive indication that the widely-rumored inclination of Mr. Morgan towards the Roman Catholic Church is without foundation.

Claims to the contrary notwithstanding, the original publications concerning the coming of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan to the Episcopal Convention in October were made in the Times-Dispatch on June 6th of the renting of the Rutherford house by the New York financier.

It was preceded by a definite statement of the same fact, with pictures in the Evening Journal's announcement on March 30th. "Pierpont Morgan's coming to the Episcopal Convention," was made on February 25th, other places were said to be under consideration. From time to time thereafter other publications concerning the coming of Mr. Morgan were made, until, on April 8th, a picture of the house in which he will live was printed.

(Times-Dispatch, April 8th.) Announcement was made yesterday to the effect that the residence of Mr. Thomas M. Rutherford, No. 113 East Grace Street, known as the Thomas house, has been leased for the month of October to J. Pierpont Morgan, the prominent financier and banker, of New York City.

The lease price is understood to be $5,000, in addition to which Mr. Morgan agrees to make certain alterations to the house without cost to the owners.

Among the notable individuals who will attend the session of the General Council of the Episcopal Church in this city next October will be no less a celebrity than J. Pierpont Morgan, the latter-day Croesus.

Even now his agents are negotiating for the lease of a certain magnificent Grace Street house, which is located on the north side of the thoroughfare, between First and Third. The contract has not yet been signed, but all the indications point to that end.

It has been said that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan has taken the Westbrook place, but this could not be confirmed. Among the other houses that are being considered are the residences of Mr. James M. Pace, Mr. William H. Trigg, Mr. J. Taylor Ellison and Mr. Rutherford.

ANNUAL SERMON TO GRADUATING CLASS

Commencement Exercises at Richmond College Will Begin To-Day.

The commencement exercises at Richmond College begin to-day with an annual sermon before the graduating class in the college chapel. The exercises of commencement week will extend through Wednesday, the degrees being delivered to the graduating class on Wednesday evening.

The commencement sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. M. Yates, D. D., pastor of the Freedom Street Baptist Church, Norfolk, Va., a speaker of recognized eloquence, who has been heard with great pleasure on several occasions by Richmond audiences.

The exercises in connection with commencement week will partake of a more formal character than has been the case heretofore. The graduating class will appear in caps and gowns, and the trustees and faculty will take part in the procession to the various features of the commencement.

The trustees of the college will meet to-night at 8 o'clock, in the president's office, and decide the way to reserved seats in the chapel. The music of the occasion will be in charge of the choir of the Grace Street Baptist Church. Several well-known Baptist churches, including Grace Street, Second, Calvary and Grove Avenue, will omit their night services on account of the commencement.

On Monday evening the faculty will announce the list of graduates and promotions, the lists being posted on the college bulletin board, and at 8:15 P. M. the class day exercises will take place in the chapel. The exercises consist of orations and class histories by members of the graduating class and others.

The annual dinner of the General Society of the Alumni will occur at Murphy's Hotel on Tuesday at 2 P. M. All alumni of the college, whether enrolled as such or not, and although not otherwise notified, are expected to attend. Tickets may be had of Mr. C. C. Claude, treasurer, at the hotel. Those expecting to attend this meeting are requested to attend this meeting as requested.

Mr. Graves of the fact at this time. This occasion marks the twenty-first anniversary of the college.
